

Lee Ann Womack, The Healing Kind

Starin' out the window at the sinkin' sun
Another painful day is done
If I could convince myself I was over you now
I'd find a way to go on somehow

Chorus:

But the pain just grows stronger every day
I think of you and i'm on my way Down memory lane with your hand in mine guess i'm just not the healing kind

Another December and the cold winds blow
And nights without you are so long
I stare at our picture through the firelight's glow
And where you are right now I just dont know

Chorus