

Lee Roy Parnell, Better Word For Love

Here's another morning soon she'll be waking up
I watch her and wonder if there's a better word for love

So many times I've told her it never seems enough
So I'll keep searching for a better word for love

Mumbling stumbling wondering when I'll find a way
I know she knows there's nothing more to say

Tonight when I'm out walking I'll ask the stars above
If out there somewhere there's a better word for love

[guitar]
Mumbling stumbling wondering...

So here's another morning soon she'll be waking up
I guess I'll just hold her tight till there's a better word for love
I guess I'll just hold her tight till there's a better word for love