

Lemuria, Fingers

Never point unless it's your thumbs to your chest

It's a small frame but someone has to fill it
It's a small frame but someone has to fill it

Like adolescents showing their adulthood While their friends sniff their fingers behind the bleachers Anything, anything, for a round of applause
for a round of applause
for a round of applause
for a round of applause
for a round of applause
for a round of applause