

Leo Sayer, Time Ran Out On You you feel there's enough you try because you did get lonely and hearts feel too much and right now you you keep holdin' on you know it's wrong but you can't let go and here comes tonight you say the situa you just don't feel right and you pretend to be sincere but nothing is clear you're no sincere you still don't feel right and you have no intention to be left standing by you say the situation's not you