Leona Lewis, If I Was So Happy

I can't believe that I'm thinking about yesterday once more
When you climbed right through my window
You said you hadta grow
You hadta open up big doors
But it was okay with me, I hadta set you free
Knew you'd come back to me
If I was so happy
Then why do I want you back in my arms?
I thought I was okay, but I can't even admit to myself
That I would take you back if you returned me
But I don't believe in your love, then why?
Why am I feeling, why am I feeling this way?
I wake up day by day
And I think of all the things to say
I wish I could fly away and follow the coulds
To a place where I could set free
Where there won't be anyone looking down on me
Oh I try not to cry, so I place it all behind me
If I was so happy
Then why do I want you back in my arms?
I thought I was okay, but I can't even admit to myself
That I would take you back if you returned me
But I don't believe in your love...then why?
Why am I feeling, why am I feeling this way?
If I was so hapy (If I was so happy)
Then why do I want you back in my arms? (Why do I want you back?)
I thought I was okay (I thought I was okay)
But I can't even admit to myself that I would take you back (I could take you back)
If you returned me, but I don't believe in your love (Ooh I don't believe, no) then why?
Why am I feeling, why am I feeling this way?
If I was so happy (x15)
Why do I want you back?
