

Leona Naess, Earthquake

Baby, there's no sense in this crazy
Why bring him to us
To take him away
Well, they'll be no more holidays
in this house
If there is a God he's playing cat and mouse
With you in my arms to fall into
He was like the delicate lace
From a snowflake
With will to live
Like an Earthquake
He'll drive you to your knees
Like an Earthquake
Find your peace of mind

Baby, there are times when I thought
I'd be where you stand
So I guess I can only
fail to understand
Your pain

He was like the delicate lace
From a snowflake
With will to live
Like an Earthquake
He'll drive you to your knees
Like an Earthquake
Find your peace of mind

No Christmas trees
Or the change of autumn leaves
Will ever lose his breath in you
And when someone passed Away too fast but still left his prints on you

He was like the delicate lace
From a snowflake
With will to live
Like an Earthquake
He'll drive you to your knees
Like an Earthquake
Find your peace of mind
