

Lianne La Havas, Forget

Waste all your time writing love songs, but you don't love me.
All too familiar when it feels wrong,
I think you're just lonely.

Do you mind?
I found another new way to look at,
Use your time to pack away your every verse and every rhyme.

Forget - all the words that let you break my heart!
Forget - that I'm the person tearing you apart!

Remember way back when you played me,
I lost that hand,
So please don't try serenade me,
I am a one man band.

Say goodbye,
Don't need to hear you play.
So many other ways to relax,
So pack away your every verse and every rhyme.

Forget - all the words that let you break my heart!
Forget - that I'm the person tearing you apart!

I think it's time for me to leave,
I gave this piece of mind for free.
So if you hear my sound advice, there is no need to tell you twice,
There is no need to tell you twice!

Forget - all the words that let you break my heart!
Forget - that I'm the person tearing you apart!

So if you hear my sound advice, there is no need to tell you twice!