

Liars Academy, Perfect

On the way back
From your house
I thought of all the things
I could have said
And all the things I thought
That I could change
It would have been perfect
Counting it all
Back to zero
That's what I did
See the waves and future in you
It was perfect
And all the time
That I could have spent
Maybe I was just a stupid kid
I surrendered to the war
With your family
It would have been perfect
Sentimental life
Sentimental rights
Sentimental lies
Is twelve too late to call?
