

Lil Bit, Love

Ohhh love...

Ohhh love...

Hmm...

Said you from the hood and that's all you know

And you're homies called

And it's time to go live a life of drama

That's your only rhyme and you know it's wrong

But the money's right

Praying for the day to come when all your hustlin days are done

And find a girl that fall in love

A special someone that you know you can trust

But you ain't got time

It's your way of life

And you know that one day

You'll pay the price

So, hope you chose life over death and live your dream

Don't learn the lesson hope you see that someone loves you

Change the life never try to hurt you

Mend your heart and won't desert you

Don't you think you're ever asking too much

All you need is love, love, love

All you ever need is love, love, love

And it's good to be in love, love, love

Now a new life has begun

And sometimes it may get rough

But I promise I'll be there to give you all my love

All that I want you to see is

Misery lusts company and all your friends

They ain't your friends and

Something go wrong

Hope you can depend on

When you crying now

Someone will save me

They'll looking at you like your crazy

How much will you have for the hood

When they ain't have your back like they said they would

You need to see who's on your side

And no one to better life for you

Think of what you had, not with your pride

Deep down you really know that truth

Nobody wants to see you cry

I know just what you've been through (oh)

Cause it can be good (cause it can be good)

Or it can be bad

All you need is love, love, love

All you ever need is love, love, love

And it's good to be in love, love, love

Now a new life has begun

And sometimes it may get rough

But I promise I'll be there to give you all my love

Life is only as hard as you make it

If you are in control, you can break it

You gotta know that your life is worth saving

Trust in your heart

See, I know times get rough

I do

And you think of all things that brought you down

But if you look up, you can get up

Trust in yourself

And I promise it will be okay

I promise, all you need is love

What you need is love, love, love

All you ever need is love, love, love

And it's good to be in love, ooh love, love

And a new life has begun
And sometimes it gets rough
But I promise I'll be there to give you all my love, love, love
All you ever need is love, love, love
And it's good to be in love, ooh love, ooh love
And a new life has begun
And sometimes it gets rough
I promise I'll be there to give you all my love