

Lil Romeo, Still Be There

i ain't trippin girl age ain't nuttin 2times chorus) young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there

young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there
young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there

verse1) i remember way back in dem kindergarten classes snack time the way yo smile used to shine how we used to line up in dem single fine lines walkin out to recess taken all them deep breathes watchin me develop my basketball skills dribblin from the the start and u took my heart away i couldn't wait til the next day to see yo face all over again yo love i'm still tryin to win chorus) young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there

young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there
young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there
young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there

verse2) a few years passed still da same feelings i got more popular still the same feelings i had and i don't know if there is somethin awhile all my friends tellin me to consitrate on yo game keep ya grades good nba's in ya furtune but u so pretty could a soldier afford to lose ya and i won't really call it's puppy love i'm haven it's more like a crush and we can keep it on the hush okay chorus) young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there

young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there
young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there
young girl why you wanna grow older young or old baby i'ma still be there verse3) we in the 7th grade now and i'm stunnin like a super star referee makin all startin point guird and it's funny cause i still feel the same way and you've noticed that i'm lookin your way but through it all you still shy and i'm put it in a letter cause that's the best way to tell ya so we can still grow together and we can stil stay strong and whatever chorus