

Limp Bizkit, Poison Ivy

Sometimes my intuitions
Are nearly warning signs,
Sometimes ignoring them
Could fuck me up
And this is one, one, one of those times.
It's much too late to
Derail this crazy train,
You left me like your laundry
Out here hanging, and I'm done, done, done.
I see your lips
They move so fast,
But the words ain't coming out.
If you could only stop pretending
And dive right in me.
I see your lips
They move so fast,
But the words ain't coming out.
If you could only stop pretending
And dive right in me.
You were my last temptation
The fruit I'll never need,
To taste your blood has made my bet
And now I'm living one, one, one big lie.
Through penetration
You poison carefully,
I'm left with an empty hole
I cannot replace you
I will not, not, not this time.
Not this time.
No, not this time.
And just know you're a part of me
And you will always be.
I see your lips
They move so fast,
But the words ain't coming out.
If you could only stop pretending
And dive right in me.
I see your lips
They move so fast,
But the words ain't coming out.
If you could only stop pretending
And dive right in me.
All the leaves are falling off of my tree,
Nobody growing any colder than me,
I'll admit you can talk a good game,
You maintain the talk of a good game.
You never met a single one that you said,
Say anything again inside of my head
I'll admit you made it in somehow,
Somehow, you made it in somehow.
You don't think much, do you?
You don't feel much, do you?
You talk way too much,
You talk way too much.
You don't think much, do you?
You don't feel much, do you?
You talk way too much,
You talk way too much.
I see your lips
They move so fast,
But the words ain't coming out.
If you could only stop pretending
And dive right in me.
I see your lips

They move so fast,
But the words ain't coming out.
If you could only stop pretending
Stop pretending, stop pretending...
