

Linda Eder, Gently Break My Heart

Theres something in your eyes i should have seen something there that doesnt quite belong and theres something in the way you touched my hand i feel the tenderness but somethings wrong How could i have been so blind i thought this love would never die now baby try.... to break it to me gently
let me down easy
i dont think i can take much more then that tonight So let me catch my breath before you start then break it to me gently even if it gently breaks my heart You caught me by surprise Im unprepared tell what am i supposed to do i cant find any words i just knwo that im scared i never thought of me with out you and i dont want a reason why but if you have to say good-bye then baby try.....
then break it to me gently
Tell me lies tell me theres still time for us Oh cant we try to find a little more time for us a little time before you....
then break it to me gently
