

Lindsey Buckingham, Under The Skin

I hear your heart
As you pass through
I know the pain that you feel
I'll shepherd you

Under the skin everything shows
under the skin
Anything goes for the asking
Under the skin

I know it's hard
Being so hard to find
Your passion swallows you whole
Deaf dumb and blind

Under the skin everything grows
Under the skin
Anything goes for the asking
Under the skin

When the shadows fall on the one-way wall
And you feel so small
Where do you belong
When your soul falls out and you're filled with doubt
And the silhouettes shout
Where do you belong

Lay your head down
No one will see
Cry me a river of new dreams
Float yourself free

Under the skin everything shows
Under the skin
Anything goes for the asking
Under the skin

Under the skin everything grows
Under the skin
Anything goes for the asking
Under the skin
