

Lindsey Buckingham, You Do Or You Don't

Written by Lindsey Buckingham.

Living in exile ain't the way to go
It's just another way of dying
A whole lot of faces that you call your own
All those faces are crying
You either run or you hide
Now you slip now you slide
You say you will, but you won
You either do or you don
Living in exile, just gotta let it go
You know that it's true
Just like a little child, you've got to crawl away
It's the last chance for you
You either run or you hide
Now you slip now you slide
You say you will, but you won
You either do or you don
Somebody go to see this through
All the world is laughing at you
Somebody's got to sacrifice
If this whole thing's gonna turn out right
You either run or you hide
Now you slip now you slide
Now you will, now you won
You either do or you don
