

Lion's Share, Haunted

The night was cold and damp, a chill in the air
a vision from the past, or were you really there the shadows made me see unclear, hake with fear i was paralyzed, i felt hypnotized by your stare

The ghostly sound of silence, not a single breeze your face appeared before me, it made me freeze
my heart was beating doubletime out of line was it just a dream or could it be i was loosing my mind

Someone out there the window i saw through could i believe it
the face i saw was you

There was a point in time when we had been so close now there is nothing left, what we share is gone
please leave me alone

In my loneliness you're haunting me i just can't take it, not anymore i'm in deep distress, please set me free i just can't take it, oh no more

As quickly as you appeared you faded out
you left me trembling cold, i wanted to shout loved you once, i can't do it again, i'm going insane if i could turn back time maybe you still could be mine
