

Lionel Richie, Somewhere in London

She had on these high heels
And her hair was like a black sea
She disappeared before we had a chance to meet
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
Girl, please come back to me
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
And somehow I know that she's all the I need
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
Her beauty stars so bright
You took me and sucked the breath from me
Just for a second she was my sunlight
Then she fell into the crowd like the band of clouds
Her darkness fell on me
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
Girl, please come back to me
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
And somehow I know that she's all the I need
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
She had on these high heels
And her hair was like a black sea
She disappeared before we had a chance to meet
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
Girl, please come back to me
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
And somehow I know that she's all the I need
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
Counting on my lucky star
I hope they point me where you are
I hope, I pray to see your face again
See there's no doubt that you are mine
May fate bring me to your eyes
So I can feel the gift of love again
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
Girl, please come back to me
Oh yeah, I see her somewhere in London
And somehow I know, somehow I know she's all the I need
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
London, London
