

LISA ABERER, I Will Dance

Will I still be alive tomorrow?
Will I still have the choice to take a chance with you?
And will decline allow me home
Cause everything is now, and here in you

I should be dancing, every night
I want to steal the night away
I could be dancing, every day
It's now or never, don't delay
I should be dancing, every night
I want to steal the night away
I could be dancing, every day
I think you hear my body say
That I will dance, dance, dance, dance, dance
I should be
I should be dancing

Who can tell the sun to slow down?
Who come as the time, come over not too pace?
If you'll stand outside the fire
You think you might live safe, but die alone

I should be dancing, every night
I want to steal the night away
I could be dancing, every day
It's now or never, don't delay
I should be dancing, every night
I want to steal the night away
I could be dancing, every day
I think you hear my body say
That I will dance, dance, dance, dance, dance
I should be
I should be dancing.
