Lita Ford, Hammerhead

(Ford, Ehmig)
He sees himself as a warrior
In a world that doesnt understand
A demon light fills the eyes, of this mechanical man
Hes a living, breathing nightmare
Hes twisted and hes mean
In his head, the walking dead are his war secret machine
Oh, Hammerhead

He was just a lonely boy before the demons took control His sanity, humanity, lost somewhere long ago Now the poisons in his memory Are clogging up his veins And the lonliness like a devils kiss Has gone straight to his brain Oh, Hammerhead

Now hes lost within his madness And more and more each day The metal man turns his hand To the price the world must pay Hammerhead Oh, Hammerhead