

Little Boots, Better In The Morning

Stars are drowning in the sky
They know that we are waiting
The moon says to the sun "goodbye
I guess I'll catch you later"
People are just waking up
But I can't stop yawning
Fasten up my coat
It's always better in the morning

Trying to remember
But the night already fades
Lost track of the time
I never meant to make you wait
Even though you weren't around
My phone says you were calling
Try to shake it off
It's always better in the morning

It's always better
So much better in the morning
It's always better
So much better in the morning

Make it better in the morning
I hope we can still be friends
Make it better in the morning
Can we start over again?

I can still hear music
If I stop and close my eyes
No one seems to notice
That the sky is turning white
Think I'll take the long way home
I know that I am stalling
There'll be trouble
But it's always better in the morning

It's always better
So much better in the morning
It's always better
So much better in the morning

Make it better in the morning
I hope we can still be friends
Make it better in the morning
Can we start over again?

Make it better in the morning
I hope we can still be friends
Make it better in the morning
Can we start over again?

So much better in the morning
So much better in the morning
It's always better
So much better in the morning
It's always better
So much better in the morning
