Lloyd Cole, Fall Together

to the corner of the market place your wager to the price of tea in china and the smell of dirty money on your fingers, in the honeypot is empty fall together, pretty boys, don't you cry wrote the sequel to the bible bought the rights to the original sin made the movie, did the business took a mortgage on a mortgage on a loan fall together, right now, pretty boy sold the lamborghini baby got the baby, now your broker's on the phone from the land of wine and plates send your resume, we'll call you back jack fall together, right now, over me

'cause nothing very good or very bad will ever last for very long nothing very good or very bad will ever last for very long nothing very good or very bad will ever last for very long nothing very good or very bad will ever last for very long, no
