

Lloyd Cole, Grace

once you were an angel jesse honey is it hard to take does it feel so bad to be 28 you were 23 and you could do anything now you open your mouth and spit the gutter out i was walking down by the river thames i decided that i should throw me in because you broke my heart and you made me weep in the name of your sensitivity still once you were an angel did nobody tell you jesse honey oh you look so pale and old and so very ill at ease these days so you tell yourself that you'll never win and you drown your sins in amphetamine do you weary so of that bitter taste so you spit in my face just to keep you entertained still i can only love you i have no option but to is hard to take is it is it hard to swallow is it is it hard to take from grace
did nobody tell you jesse honey is it hard to take
and you could do anything now you open your mouth and you spit the gutter out out in the summer rain
you will begin again
out in the summer rain
we will begin again
