LMNT, Open Your Eyes (To Love)

You've been searching the world to find true love Looking in all the wrong places When all of the time you've been blind to love It's plain as the nose on your faces

It's here, it's now Open your eyes and see it Right here, right now Open your eyes to love

You've been down on yourself
Thinking something's wrong
Wonder why love has never found you
Don't you know it's been right here all along
If only you'd look around you -girl

It's here, it's now Open your eyes and see it Right here, right now Open your eyes to love

Love has been right by your side But, oh - So close that you couldn't see If love could speak It would shout to the sky I've always been here I always will be

I'm here, I'm now Open your eyes and see me Right here, right now Open your eyes to love

Open your eyes to love Open your heart to love