

Lobo, I

When I saw you standing there,
a bell fell off my chair,
and when you moved your mouth to speak,
I felt the blood go to my feet.
Now it took time for me to know,
what you tried so not to show,
and something in my soul just cried,
I see your want in your blue eyes.
Babe, I'd love you to want me,
the way that I want you, the way that it should be.
Babe, you'd love me to want you,
the way that I want too, if you only let it be.
You told yourself years ago,
you never let your feeling show,
the obligation that you made,
for the time of that they gain.
Babe, I'd love you to want me,
the way that I want you, the way that it should be.
Babe, you'd love me to want you,
the way that I want too, if you only let it be.
Babe, I'd love you to want me,
the way that I want you, the way that it should be.
Babe, you love me to want you,
the way that I want too, if you want me let it be.
Now it took time for me to know,
what you tried so not to show,
and something in my soul just cried,
I see your want in your blue eyes.
Babe, I'd love you to want me,
the way that I want you, that way that it should be.
Babe, you love me to want you,
the way that I want too, if you want me let it be.
Babe, I'd love you to want me,
the way that I want you, the way that it should be.
Babe, you love me to want you,
the way that I want too, if you want me let it be.
