

Lobo, The End Is In Sight

(Kent LaVoie)

And if I need you
You were always there
You said you'd always care

But something's missing
That was there before
It's just not there anymore

You tell me not to worry
To remember what you said
But now those words
Have different meaning
Though I can still
Hear them in my head

You said you'd love me till the end of time
But if I'm reading all the signs right
The clock should start slowing down
Any day now
Cos the end of time is in sight

Any day now the sun will go out
And the stars will all turn gray
And life on Earth as I know it now
Will just fade away
