

Longwave, Something

i need something to make this alright something to get me to your light you know that i'd bow with my fingers crossed you know i believed when i lost trying to make something from nothing yeah i need something i need something to pull me deeper something to break this fever you know when i touch you it feels good and you know that i take more than I should
trying to make something from nothing
yeah I need something
i'd really like to blow right through this design i don't need no drugs to help me get high i'd do anything to see to see at this time a perfect light
that shines
i need something to fill this cold space something to crack this hard face you know when i'm down i'm down good you know that i'd get up if i could
trying to make something from nothing
yeah I need something
i'd really like to blow right through this design
a perfect light
