

Lord Belial, Divide Et Impera

(Music: Dark, Vassago & Bloodlord)

(Lyrics: Dark)

And there it is - the moon the mysterious moon that shines so bright and clear like a crystal ball at night with great strength and unholiness as death itself
and there it is - the moon
the mesmerising moon to behold and to witness the rise of the horned one below when he spreads his shadow down on the burning ground and as he spreads his wings so majestic across the skies and fly away
... to divide and conquer Diabolical legions of demons, thousand legions of demons -an army of darkness, malice, hate and total destruction shoulder to shoulder and with swords in their hands to divide and conquer they march so proud the sun has died-never to rise again, just like jesus christ all priests will die their churches burn their lambs drains from all blood -a war so fucking unholy The hellfire has risen high-to divide and conquer the horned one stands proud-to divide and conquer all demons raise their swords-to divide and conquer shoulder to shoulder they march-to divide and conquer Thunder and lightning cold winds and rain it all appeared when the battle began the dying priests are crying and their tears falls to the ground as the legions are marching forward no mercy is shown no mercy is given they will reap this land and harvest all the souls they bear malice against all that is holy, glorified and just behold the destruction of all beauty in mankind

Divide et impera
omnia quae existimant nostra sunt Satanus protectus il aegonis viene con il crio

The hellfire has risen high - to divide and conquer
the horned one stands proud - to divide and conquer
all demons raise their swords - to divide and conquer
shoulder to shoulder they march - to divide and conquer Slay molest and destroy is their only commands which they obey with pleasure their master stands so pleased and watch this devastating battle he smiles and scream in great rejoice as all priests and nuns are slayed all christ believers can now behold their creation and vision fade away finally the kingdom of hell with its supreme lord can rule this world he has risen high-to divide and conquer!
Dogs of christ-you christian whores the final battle of all souls is here down on your knees and pray (though your prayers won't help you) cause it's time for you to die unleash the beast within-the dark soul that breeds in man set your demons free, behold their strength and give up your soul thou shalt not be saved. thou shalt be enslaved you christian whore!
damnation awaits
you christian whore!!!
And there it is the moon - the magical moon that witnessed the rise of the horned one below which ended with the destruction of all beauty in mankind the kingdom of hell: victorious

The hellfire has risen high - to divide and conquer
the horned one stands proud - to divide and conquer
all demons raise their swords - to divide and conquer
shoulder to shoulder they march - to divide and conquer Slay molest and destroy are their only commands
which they obey with pleasure
their master stands so pleased and watch this devastating battle
he smiles and scream in great rejoice
as all priests and nuns are slayed
all christ believers can now behold their creation and vision fade away
finally the kingdom of hell with its supreme lord can rule this world
he has risen high-to divide and conquer!

The hellfire has risen high - to divide and conquer
the horned one stands proud - to divide and conquer
all demons raise their swords - to divide and conquer
shoulder to shoulder they march - to divide and conquer