Loren, Panic

Riding in the backseat of this car I'm still here safe and quiet And I'll pretend like I'm asleep as You drive right into my basement

My panic won't you help me around So I can be pathetic and indifferent to time I'll be alright Just shatter me enough for this town When I go out it's all I got

Hate pretend behave
Find comfort in these walls
Accept forget
And smile to curtain call
Mandate heartache
It's what I get from
Studded belts on old TVs
Suicides and love machines

My panic won't you help me around So I can be pathetic and indifferent to time I'll be alright Just shatter me enough for this town When I go out it's all I got

My panic won't you help me around So I can be pathetic and indifferent to time I'll be alright Just shatter me enough for this town When I go out it's all I got That's that Sleep tight
