

Lori McKenna, Would You Love Me Then

I can see clear through your thoughts some times
I know I can
When you say you need more time
And you think that I&#039;ll under stand
Well you can put your finger to your nose
You can tell me just where I should go
Then you can fly
And I&#039;ll wonder why

What if I could leap tall buildings in a
In a single bound?
What if I could tell the world I loved you
Without even making a sound?
What if I was smarter than Einstein&#039;s daughter?
What if I had x-ray eyes?
What if I could run to the top of the sun
And not even look like I tried?
Would you love me then?

Things are never easy
Nothing&#039;s ever clear cut
Just when I thought you wanted more
You tell me that you&#039;ve had enough
Well I know I&#039;m not beautiful
And I&#039;ll never be tall and thin
But these things mean so much
When you feel with your eyes and not within

What if I could leap tall buildings in a
In a single bound?
What if I could walk a cross the country
With out even touching the ground?
What if I was sorry for your sins?
What if I was Prince Charles&#039;s next of kin?
What if could change the world for you
I could make you love me if I wanted to
Would you love me then?
Would you love me then?
Would you love me then?

What if I could leap tall buildings in a
In a single bound?
What if I could tell the world I loved you
Without even making a sound?
What if I was smarter than Einstein&#039;s daughter?
What if I had x-ray eyes?
What if I could run to the top of the sun
And not even look like I tried?
Would you love me then?
