Los Lobos, Run Away With You

(David Hidalgo/Louie Perez)

I would've run away with you If I hadn't asked what I should do Believe me what I say is true I would've run, run away with you

I would've known it from the start If I had listened to my heart You'll never know but this is true I would've run, run away with you Run away with you

I was afraid at what they might say
When I could have turned the other way
You've got to know this love is true
And that I would've run, run away with you
Run away with you
