

Louis Armstrong, American icon

I see trees of green Red roses too I see them bloom for me and you And I think to myself What a world