

Lovex, Remorse

Does it even matter what I've said?
Too much in the past to forget
Does it even matter what I feel?

Does it even matter what I've done?
Pushed you out of the harm's way
Does it even matter?
Does it even matter?

The same way that you've burned, I feel the Fire in my words
The soon forgotten words of deceit

Now you feel like the one who was left alone in the sun

Does it even matter what I've said
To ease your one regret?
Does it even matter
How your lives shatter?
Whoa, whoa, oh

The same way that you've yearned, I feel the Mourning in my words
The unforgotten words of deceit

You feel like the one who was left alone in the sun
Now you feel like the one who was left alone in the sun

You feel like the one, left alone in the sun

You feel like the one who was left alone in the sun
Now you feel like the one, left alone in the sun
The sun, the sun
Now you feel like the one, left alone in the sun
To see all the light behind the shadow
And you know that the whole world can see when you dry your heartless tears of remorse

Now you feel like the one who was left in the sun
To see all the light behind the shadow
And you know that the whole world can see when you dry your heartless tears
Of remorse