

Lucero, Darby's Song

little girl your still far too young to have a heart that's been so broken it might seem you ain't got no one well, i'm here for you told your momma before she died that i'd stayed right by your side now i have to leave just a little while but i'm here for you hardest part there is about dying don't want to leave your life behind you i know your momma wouldn't want you crying so i'm here for you loved your momma more than she loved me when you were born i was far from tennessee i came back home to hold you close to me and i'm here for you your far too precious to me i only want what's best for you that might not include me well i know it's true
but i'm here for you