

Lucie Silvas, Something About You

Walking this road with a shadow of doubt
You'd think by now that I would have figured out
How to follow my heart

I thought I knew love like the back of my hand
But now it seems that all of my best laid plans
Are falling apart and this magnetic field is pulling me back in

I've been watching from a distance
Trying to hold back what I'm feeling
It doesn't matter that I've got so much to lose
There's something about you

Like I'm on stage with the light in my eyes
I'm losing my place and messing up all my lines
You know there's nowhere to hide now

It won't be long before
I'm waiting at your door

I've been watching from a distance
Trying to hold back what I'm feeling
It doesn't matter that I've got so much to lose
There's something about you

This is the right place at the wrong time for loving you
I wish I could tell you the way I feel

I've been watching from a distance
Trying to hold back what I'm feeling
It doesn't matter that I've got so much to lose
There's something about you
