

Lucy Pearl, Hollywood

hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood

where is the money honey i swear i've asked that question a thousand times they use ya, rip through your soul while they funk with your mind anxious for the fame that you dream all about fool ya fame is gone ain't no one to be found

hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood

like a cheating man's mission they take you out commission suck you dry and then move onto the next fill your head with stardom promises make their money then they leave you for dead still believing the ones who are deceiving got ya starvin' while they already ate sign your life on the dotted line 'stead of giving all the money they make

hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood
i don't agree
what you want me to be hollywood