

Luther Vandross, What the world needs now

What the world needs now is love, sweet love It's the only thing That there's just too little of What the