

Lutricia McNeal, 365

365 Days

I remember what you used to say
That Things won't tumble down
Now we're here and finally it changed
When I'm standing on silent ground
I don't understand
When did we go wrong?
And I can't imagine
Where will I be 365 days from now
Tell me
How will I feel 365 nights without you
Oh what would I do?
And now it feels like we're drifting apart
Things are not what they used to be
And now I know it's written in your heart
You don't wanna be a part of me
I don't understand
What did I do wrong?
And I can't imagine
Where will I be 365 days from now
Tell me
How will I feel 365 nights without you
Oh what would I do?
I've been trying so hard
Not to let it show
But deep within my feelings
They glow
Before you leave me and let me go
There's something I need to know
Where will I be 365 days from now
Tell me
How will I feel 365 nights without you
Oh what would I do? 365 nights without you
