

Lycia, Anywhere But Home

i remember things, things from long ago days that were so bare, times that seemed so low i don't think that we can even be together .. anywhere but home take me in your arms, smile for me again please don't ever leave, this must never end i am so alive, why must this now end? i will never be quite the same again