

Lynn Anderson, Nobody Wins

Well it really it doesn't matter who's right or wrong
We've been hurting each other for much too long
And it's too late to try to save what might have been when it's over nobody wins
Make believing in forever is such a line and it seems a little sadder each time we try
Cause it's a shame to make the same mistakes again and again
Oh it's over nobody wins
We've gone too far too long too far apart
But loving was easy it's the living that's hard
For there's no need to stay to see the way it ends oh it's over nobody wins
