

M.I.A., 2 pieces

I'm searching for someone just like you, like you
You can't stop thinking about me and you,
I've needed this so much, so much
So why stop this feeling from going on
It's all so funny, but it's no fun
Is this my happy end, or have we just begun
Do we know that we break into two pieces
Keep on saying: "My heart is still yours, still yours"
When we see that we're cracking in two pieces
While our hearts spin around so free, so free
I give my best not to miss you, miss you
While you try not to kiss
I want to be with you, with you
So why stop this feeling from growing strong
Cause we know that we're broken into pieces
Keep on saying: "My heart is still yours, still yours"
But it's true that we're broken in two pieces
While our hearts spin around so free, so free
I want to wake up, wake up
I want to wake up, wake up
Cause we know that we're broken into pieces
Keep on saying: "My heart is still yours, still yours"
But it's true that we're broken in two pieces
While our hearts spin around so free, so free