

Machinae Supremacy, Masquerade

I've tried to find some common ground
Somewhere I can be unbound
By the preconceptions we have found.

True strength is choosing your own side
When different worlds collide.
Do you stay silent
To seem strong inside?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you still hide your eyes away
From the world outside your shades.
Have you noticed how it starts to fade?

True strength is to face the ceiling
When the walls are caving in.
Do you stay silent
When you scream within?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

A transformer shell on what's within.
Metal surface on a fragile skin.
Do you always play only to win?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?

Do you really wanna be
Another face in the masquerade?