

Machinae Supremacy, Oki Kumas Adventure

I look at the sky as my own and the light always warms my bones but the light brings the dark in shadow and somewhere inside I know It glows in the freezing night the midwinter snow so white in its celestial path in the sky the great hubnester lies I refuse to fail, to kneel or bow
No power in the 'verse can stop me now Leading me towards the dawn of day
The stars above illuminate my way My burden an awful load my chest holds a heart of gold in the stories a child is told a legend amongst the old it speaks of a legacy one of me and my family And I burn for their right to survive to be alive
"Kuma was a hero who saved the world.
The Legend of hubnesters fight will be told forever"
