

Machinery Elegant, Shattered Grounds

I feel like a man without a face like a foreigner at this place when you are standing by my side
I am completely in control with a tighter grip around my soul there's no way out, there's no return
I thought I was dreaming when I found myself screaming hurt by wounds that I've received from you

CHORUS

I can't really understand why you talk the way you do when I'm lying here on this shattered grounds
No I can't really understand why you do the things you do to leave me all alone on these shattered

You are the one that I adore the keeper of a secret lore playing with danger, playing with tears
You are a complicated case no-one could ever take your place my life is kept within your hands
I thought I was dreaming when I found myself screaming hurt by wounds that I've received from you

REPEAT CHORUS