MACKLEMORE, SORRY (feat. Livingston)

It's too late to get the past back
But I'm stuck in the sandtraps
And I thought that I was past that
My eyelids live in a flashback
And I can't heal your trauma
I even said sorry to your mama
But am I the type
The type of man that I want for my daughters?

Don't lose me now
Hold my hand like the first time outside my house
When life was just a couple miles
Me and you, the world was ours
I never meant to steal your smile
Fill your heart with fear and doubt
I rerun those empty vows
I play the tape and I watch for hours

I won't give up on you
If you won't give up on we
I can't live without you
I hope that you feel the same about me

And I feel lost, I feel safe, all at once
And I'm so tired, feel so angry at the world
Oh-oh, do the best I can and when I mess it up
I say "I'm sorry"
Oh-oh, when I lose control and make you feel so bad
I say "I'm sorry"

I made a list of all the reasons why I think that you should stay
And at the top I said, "I promise I'll get better someday," yeah
But all these Sundays turn to Mondays
Empty promises grow cold
What if someday turns to one day
You get sick of me and go?

I won't give up on you
If you won't give up on we
I can't live without you
I hope that you feel the same about me

And I feel lost, I feel safe, all at once
And I'm so tired, feel so angry at the world
Oh-oh, do the best I can and when I mess it up
I say "I'm sorry"
Oh-oh, when I lose control and make you feel so bad
I say "I'm sorry"

Oh-oh, do the best I can and when I mess it up
I say "I'm sorry"
Oh-oh, when I lose control and make you feel so bad
I say "I'm sorry"
