Macy Gray, Hey Young World, Pt. 2

check one two
check one two
hey young world
check one two
check one two
young world young world this track here may cause concern for all ring leaders why don't you listen and learn love peace happiness once was strong but due to society even that's turned wrong

why?

don't be a dumb dummy and disrespect mommy why? she put you on earth and loved you since birth and you hey young world the world is yours hey young world the world is yours young world young world young world young world reward is a brainwashed kid gone wild young little girls already have a child bad company and now you've been framed parents are hurting so hurted and ashamed why? hell lil kids don't follow these dopes why? don't be a fool like those who ditch school it's yours hey young world the world is yours hey young world the world is yours young world young world

get ahead and accomplish things you'll see the wonder and the joy life brings don't admire thieves they don't admire you their times are limited and hardrocks too listen be strong and scream woopie doo go for yours
cause dreams come true you'll make your mommy so proud of you too and this is a message that the ruler rick threw

why?

(slick rick) elders see our wise ones grow interest in what their kid learned 'bout seen how the offspring turned out knowing you can now safeguard self put upon an exciting path you see immense pride they'll have

hey young world the world is yours hey young world the world is yours young world young world

don't discipline rule soundly kids that we have lose boundaries grow into what's called curse race lack independence worst case imprisonment death near for not what we brought kids here for norals and values of sorts should be the first thing installed believe it or not god still shines on you he guides you and he watched you as you grew stay out of trouble when it comes insight cause a man never loses a fight in god's sight