

Mad At Gravity, Undefined Reversion

We soldier on
Through Hell's high water
This war's a losing fight

The past is gone
The future further
Retreating out of sight

And after the fire has died
Will the light still remain in your eyes?

We twist and turn
With pains unmentioned
To speak is suicide
The hunger fades
With malnutrition
When tears and tongues collide

And after the fire has died
Will the light still remain in your eyes?
(Turn to ashes)
And after the darkness has swallowed every sign
Will you still be there undefined?

And after the fire has died
Will the light still remain in your eyes?
(Turn to ashes)
And after the darkness has swallowed every sign
Will you still be there undefined?
And after the fire had died
Will the light still remain in your eyes?
And after the darkness has swallowed every sign
Will you still be there undefined?
