

Mad At The World, No More Innocence

In your little mind you see the crime
The script is written line by line
You're so aware of everything
That's going on in there

Written down by your consent
You have control of each event
But this is not a simple game
Of youth and innocence

CHORUS

Oh, it's happening to you
No more innocence to you
No more little believer anymore

Into some new thing you have become
I'm lonely for the other one
Someone that I used to know
Before you went away

But the world is strong
I ought to know, I live under its shadow
Kiss goodbye your simple childhood
Welcome to the world

CHORUS

CHORUS

It's a naive thought of me, I guess
To think of you not like the rest
Questioning the change
I see in you from day to night

Sad to you as it may seem
You changed the ending of my dream
Where innocence is beautiful
And love means what is right

CHORUS

CHORUS