

Madina Lake, We'll Be Okay

Tonight is all over,
But we're all still wide awake.
Huddled together,
Just hoping this moment won't fade away.
The sunlight makes it's way up the field toward us again,
Marking the end of this.
Because everyone's going their separate ways,
Sometimes things just change.
But we'll never forget who we were that day,
So don't be afraid,
'Cause we'll be okay.
Carved out our love,
And we all broke our hearts together.
These are the times that define who we are forever.
It's hard to leave,
You're just memories that I'm thinking of,
That mark the end of this.
Because everyone's going their separate ways,
Sometimes things just change.
But we'll never forget who we were that day,
So don't be afraid,
'Cause we'll be okay.
And sometimes it's hard,
When every thing changes.
Sometimes it feels,
Like the world's unfolding.
This when the impossible,
Becomes possible.
It's hard to leave,
You're just memories that I'm thinking of,
That mark the end of this.
Because everyone's going their separate ways,
Sometimes things just change.
But we'll never forget who we were that day,
So don't be afraid,
'Cause we'll be okay.
So un-afraid,
We hadn't lived.
We'll be okay.
When not a care,
In the whole world.
We'll be okay.
