

Madrugada, The Kids Are On High Street

It'll wake up some change
Stones in the pipeline
Like some new mountain range
Leave the lowlands behind
They take your photograph
You come into existence
You realize it's your path
In this very instant

Some heroes are we
To pass outside these gates
We know well to adjust
Adjust to what it takes
You add another year to this
And it all has gone to waste
All the plans have been made
To pursue our own separate faiths
They take your photograph
You come into existence
You realise its your path
In this very instant
... Ohhhh

The kids are on high street
The kids will not sleep tonight
The kids got into a knife fight
We trained them well
They're gonna be alright

I'll be joining with them soon
I can't even wait
To get away from you
Cause it's only in hindsight
That we will know what was right to do
I always thought we had it made
Ambitious were the plans we laid
They take your photograph
You come into existence
You realise its your path
In this very instant
