

Magnitude 9, Another World

Chart a course to the of unknown where the sun and the moon may show to a place where no one's been before

And the tide is rising higher every day the risk is greater the longer that we wait

I hear voices of doubt, haunting my every move
as we keep our eyes to the starlit sky
we journey onward,
with hopes of what we'll find
We're crossing over to another world

Our fears controlling every step we take Could this decision be the last that we make

I hear voices of doubt, haunting my every move
as we keep our eyes to the starlit sky
we journey onward,
with hopes of what we'll find
We're crossing over to another world

(solo)

I hear voices of doubt haunting my every move
as we keep our eyes, to the starlit sky
we journey onward with hopes of what we'll find we're crossing over, to another world....to the other side.....