

Magnum, All Come Together

The morning slumber's not for me
The sun has gone and let me down
I wake and wonder, I can see
The rain has come turning me around

The morning slumber's not for me
The sun has gone and let me down
I wake and wonder, I can see
The rain has come turning me around

But it's all right now, yes, it's all right now
'Cause it's all come together
In the last few days it's been better
All come together right now

The seven wonders of the world
Were broken and ready to fall
The king lay dying all alone
In sadness, I'll always recall

But it's all right now, yes, it's all right now
'Cause it's all come together
In the last few days it's been better
All come together right now

I had to feel good, feeling good is all I need
You have to start with sad, so good means what it means
And there's been lots of sadness for me, for me

But it's all right now, yes, it's all right now
'Cause it's all come together
In the last few days it's been better
All come together right now

I think I've tumbled now, at last
I guess there ain't nothing to choose
A fallen angel follows me
It looks like there's no time to lose

But it's all right now, yes, it's all right now
'Cause it's all come together
In the last few days it's been better
All come together right now
